HE'S THE BOY CAN DO IT!

Gilkerson Leaves Farm Bureau Job

County Adviser for 14 Years Resigns to Accept Other Work

Harry C. Gilkerson, farm adviser of Lake County since December, 1926, has announced his resignation to the farm bureau's board of directors, and will operate the 160-acre Louis Gilmer farm near Libertyville.

He will also become associated with Carl Olson in the Olson Management service of Freeport, taking charge of the advisory management department for Lake, McHenry, Cook and Kane counties in Illinois and Kenosha county in Wisconsin.

Stresses Dairy Progress

During his 14 years as the county adviser, Gilkerson has been instrumental in increasing the dairy herd improvement from 300 to more than 2000.

He organized the Lake-Cook Farm Supply Co. of Grayslake, which now does more than $500,000 of business annually.

The 4-H club work was placed on a sound footing during his term in the county, while Mrs. Gilkerson and Mrs. Elbert Elishur stimulated interest in the establishment of the Lake county home bureau work, which now is a major project among the county farmwives.

Organizes Breeding Association

In recent months, Gilkerson has devoted about one-third of his time to helping organize the Holstein Artificial Breeding association. He is likewise active in the Lake County fair, which has grown out of the Antioch County Fair.

Prior to his selection as Lake county farm adviser, Gilkerson was adviser in Edwards county for three years, after running a farm in McHenry county for five years.

For seven years Gilkerson was a member of the faculty of the college of Agriculture at the University of Illinois where he taught and experimented in soil fertility. He supervised seven experimental fields in northern Illinois. During one year he had charge of the university's official testing for dairy herds.

The farm bureau board has not yet acted on a successor.

Earl Kane of Diamond Lake, president of the Farm Bureau for the last three years, also announced his resignation. He will become manager of the Lake-Cook Supply Co.

Avert Incendiary Attempt

An explosion that night have caused thousands of dollars in damage to Gurnee township offices, and perhaps the loss of several lives, was averted New Year's morning, when employees of "The Blue Devil" luncheonette went to the basement of the Dayton building and found a small open tub containing three or four gallons of gasoline and some gasoline, already saturated and placed dangerously close to a small electric motor.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Raymond Dunkle said that there was no question but that the scene had been laid to put the place out of existence by fire.

Merchants' Policeman Resigns

C. J. Verkest, merchant policeman who has been employed by Antioch business firms as night watchman for the past several months, has resigned and has accepted a position with the Johns-Manville company in Waukegan.

Francis Swenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Swenson of Antioch township, route 173, is one of eight young men from Illinois to win a Pure Milk association scholarship to Farmers and Homemakers Week at the University of Illinois Jan. 6 to 10.

Swenson was selected from among a large number of applicants by the Dean's office at the college of agriculture. His appointment was based upon his past record in Future Farmer and 4-H club activities, his present interest in dairying and a 250 word essay on the subject, "Advantages and Disadvantages of Dairy Farming in the Chicago Area."

The $25 scholarship entitles Swenson to a week of intensive training at the university during Farmers' Week, which is now in session.

Young Swenson is a graduate of the agricultural department of the Antioch Township High school.

Spirit of "77"

As the opening sessions of the Seventy-Seventh Congress of the United States get under way, it is eminently proper that its members and the general public alike have a clear definition in their minds of the problems and responsibilities that the people's representatives face in these troubled world times.

Now it is hard, by a little thoughtful analysis to list the most important points upon which Congress should fix its unwavering attention. They would certainly include the following:

1. National defense is of primary importance. It is industry's job to provide the materials for this defense; government's task, aided by expert military advice, is to define the country's defense needs and to employ them most effectively to safeguard our shores.

2. The rearmament program should be carried through with as little dislocation as possible of our regular peacetime economy.

3. No group in this country need lose any of the sound social gains that have been won over the course of years. But the Congress does have a schedule of modification and clarification that it could well face this session in the interest of making our economy function more soundly and for the good of all Americans. It has avoided decision so far on amendment of the National Labor Relations Act; so badly in need of repair; now the report of the Smith House Committee studying that Act and the Board administering it points once again to the necessity for changes. The principles behind the Walter-Logan Bill, which narrowly failed to become law this last session, are worthy ones; in some form, they are deserving of more Congressional thought. Measures following the pattern of these projected items of legislation virtually demand the consideration of the new Congress.

Essentially, the Seventy-seventh Congress has this touchstone to test all its acts: Consider the safety of the United States, and promote internal harmony so that our industries and our whole national life will be strong. If it works in that spirit, it can make "77" a real lucky number for our great nation and all the people who dwell here in peace and in freedom.

Home Is the Writer

For a number of years in the more recent history of this period, disillusioned by the aftermath of the World War and further dismayed by the impact of depression, many of our leading writers toyed with left-wing ideas that had their origin in the darkest corners of foreign lands. Then things began happening abroad that put a different color on these foreign lens, no matter how attractively they were packaged. And our really sensible authors beat a fast retreat and began to realize anew the virtues of our American system. They suddenly saw that this side of the Atlantic harbored by far the best and happiest life for the individual. In other words, to paraphrase Stevenson's verse, "Home is the writer, home from the sea . . ."

Eloquent testimony of this new appreciation of our own land is found in the following words from one noted playwright, which scarcely need further comment:

"What of our own country? Ours is a vast, sprawling, young nation, composed of men and women of all conceivable racial origins, and all conceivable occupations and habits and points of view. We are by nature easy-going, haphazard, undisciplined and ornery. And yet—the building of America has been the most tremendously successful mass achievement in all human history."

"If efficiency is the same as effectiveness, then we are by far the most efficient people on earth."

"When you hear that Mussolini has made the trains run on time, or that Hitler has built a system of military roads all the way from France to Poland, just give a thought to the Panama Canal and Boulder Dam and the Imperial Valley in California and the Lincoln Highway and our free school system—and also to that magnificent and enduring structure, the Constitution of the United States . . ."

"We are not going to abandon this system of life until we find a better one—and no better system has yet been devised by man or beast."

CHRIST'S VALUATION OF PERSONALITY

LESSON TEXT—Luke 14:1-14.
GOD'S TEXT—is not the life more than meat and the body than raiment?—Matthew 6:23.

People, people, and more people! Have you ever said, "I'm just so tired of people. I wish I could get away from everybody?" Most of us have felt that way some time and have possibly needed and deserved a rest. We must not permit that feeling to so color our thinking, however, that we lose our interest in men and women boys and girls.

Jesus had His time of prayer and quiet communion with the Father, but for the most part we find Him out among people. He loved them and consequently dealt faithfully with them, showing tenderness to those who needed it, and often being severely plain and direct in dealing with those who were hypocrites. He valued human personality highly, hence He gave Himself in sacrificial devotion to winning, guiding, controlling and, above all, saving men.

The lesson presents some interesting contrasts.

I. How and How Not to Use the Sabbath (vv. 1-6).

Jesus was at a formal gathering with invited guests (v. 7) in one of the chief houses of the community, on the Sabbath Day. That such a gathering was held on that day was a sign of the degeneracy of the age. "The same thing is being done on Sunday by Christian people today. They go to church (if convenient) in the morning and devote the afternoon and evening to recreation and social occasions. We agree with Dr. Morgan that 'the whole thing is a sign of spiritual decadence.' That's how not to spend the day of rest and worship."

Another wrong thing was that they used the occasion to try to entrap Jesus. He was at the least, not to "have a good time," but to minister to their spiritual needs. They brought the sick man in to tempt Jesus to heal on the Sabbath Day. He used their trickery to condemn them and to silence them (v. 4, 6).

Declaring God's truth and His love for man by worship and by work for Him—that is the right way to use the Lord's Day. Let's get back to its proper observance.

II. What and What Not to Do for Advancement (vv. 7-11).

Getting ahead, even of the expense of others, seems to have been quite the thing in our Lord's time, as it is today. Looking at that smug, self-satisfied crowd of "grabbers," Jesus made good use of His presence at the feast to expose their folly and selfishness. Again we agree with Dr. Morgan that one should not "try for the chief seat." Why not? Because the place of honor is for the honorable man; and a man who struggles to sit in the place of honor proves thereby that he is not an honorable man. Think it over!

The way up in spiritual things is always down. Humility, which is so despised by the world, is precious in the sight of God, and will be rewarded by Him. The principle stated in verse 11 is and always will be true. The young man or woman who really wants to get ahead will do well to let it control both thought and deed. It is a far better rule for the New Year than any resolution you may have made—and probably forgotten by now.

III. Who and Who Not to Invite for Dinner (vv. 12-14).

Is the Lord interested in such a matter as that? Indeed He is! Everything about life concerns Him, and, as a matter of fact, this is a very important point. Here an attitude toward life is revealed which is vital and fundamental.

Hospitality is a virtue highly regarded by the Bible (see such passages as Rom. 12:13; 1 Tim. 3:2; Titus 1:8; 1 Pet. 4:9). To debase it by asking only those whom we expect will ask us in return, is really to destroy it. It is not hospitality at all to limit our invitations to those who invite us. Obviously we are not to cut them off simply because they do ask us. That is not the point. We are not to let that be the controlling factor.

Ask those who cannot pay you back, if you really want to get a blessing out of it. There is so much need in the world that we who follow Christ have little time to spend merely entertaining those who have no need. God will recompense Dr. J. W. Bradbury in The Gist of the Lesson, who says, "There is a good reason not to seek recompense here; there are more enduring and valuable recompenses hereafter" (Matt. 6:16, 10:18). When we get no recompense here for the good we do, we ought rather to rejoice than be sad. It assures better recompense hereafter."

He goes on to say, "The professing church has often followed the world's method rather than Christ's (James 2:1-9)." Sad—but true. What shall we do about it?

It is not an uncommon occurrence to see a team standing on the streets without being hitched or with no one to watch it. When a team runs away and smashes things to pieces, the only remark will be "They weren't hitched." This thing of leaving horses loose with no one to look after them ought to be stopped.

The proprietors of the various summer resorts around the lakes are making preparations to accommodate large numbers of resorters during the coming season. Candlelight Tea is Given in Honor of Dean Williams'

The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Williams for the east last Friday ended a series of social affairs, formal and informal, in which they figured.

A candlelight tea for 40 guests was given by Dean's mother, Mrs. Lillian Hand, and Mrs. W. R. Williams in the Williams home on north Main street, December 28.

Mrs. W. R. Williams presided at a table decorated in Christmas colors. Assisting Mrs. Hand and the young couple in welcoming the guests was Roger Williams, younger brother of the bridegroom.

Before their marriage Nov. 23 in the east, Mrs. Dean Williams was Miss Bartan Lowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Lowell, of Flushing, Long Island. She is a student at Blue Ridge college, New Windsor, Md., and is continuing with her studies there this semester.

Dean has been engaged in theatrical work with summer stock companies in Connecticut and New York, and has also been interested in commercial photography.

Among the affairs in their honor during their stay here, was a gathering of school friends of Dean's in the Hand home Dec. 29. Dean and his bride also attended the Antioch High School alumni banquet at Brass Ball Corners the evening of Dec. 28.

On New Year's Day, they visited the former Miss Betty Constantine of Lake Catherine and Chicago, whose marriage took place in Chicago recently.

Visits to relatives of Bartan's in Chicago also occupied some of their time during their stay here.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"God" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 5.

The Golden Text was: "Praise walteth for thee, O God; In Sion: and unto thee shall the vow be performed. O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come" (Psalms 65:1, 2).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power, beloogneth unto God" (Psalms 02:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In Sience, you can have no power opposed to God, and the physical senses must give up their false testimony. Your influence for good depends upon the weight you throw into the right scale. The good you do and embody gives you the only power obtainable. Evil is not power. It is a mockery of strength, which o'erlong betrays its weakness, and falls, never to rise" (p. 102).

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

German Airforce Aids Italy in Attacks Upon British Forces in Mediterranean; Munitions Production and Shipbuilding Are Vital Spots in U. S. Defense Work

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

INVASION: England Cautious

In contrast to the cheerful, bombless Christmas holiday, London was glum the first days of the New Year. The Nazi airforce had "Covernized" the City of London, that district in the central section of the metropolis where financial houses are located.

Thousands of incendiary bombs were dropped. Hundreds of roaring fires were out of control at the same time. The losses were estimated in millions of pounds and the dead could not be counted. Three days later a man wandering into the section asked a policeman the way to Paternoster Row, famous for centuries for its bookshops. The bobby replied: "There is no Paternoster Row, sir."

Mostly the British feared an attack through Ireland. Earlier warnings that the Axis thrust into the Balkans might only be a winter sortie and not a full-dress attack, were being taken seriously.

The actions there were being watched with interest. Germany moved 300,000 troops through Hungary and into Rumania. The Germans were posted along the border of Bulgaria where it was freely announced that as soon as they were in position and the time was ripe, an advance would be made on Salonika, Greece.

Bulgaria was belligerent in talk, but made no move to mobilize for defense or call upon Turkey and Russia for aid. Russia, however, countered the action by lining the border of Rumania with Soviet divisions. The Germans abruptly shifted a part of their force to sit opposite them.

It looked like the real thing. But experts didn't believe it. They believed Hitler was merely protecting his rear in the Balkans in preparation for the attack on England, much as he had protected his flanks when

DEFENSE: Full Speed Ahead

As soon as President Roosevelt's "Big Four"—Kaufman, Hillman, Stimson and Knox—can get industrial plants working at capacity turning out munitions, look for an acceleration of ship building in cargo carrier classes. Washington is beginning to be alarmed at a quiet survey which showed that if Britain should fall, the Axis powers would have ship building capacities in conquered nations six times larger than U. S. capacity.

First note on this line was sounded by Republican Rep. Hamilton Fish, from the President's own N. Y. district. Representative Fish has been a critic of the administration since 1932. In turn he has plenty of critics of his own and ran into a fury of angry words when he went calling on dictators in Europe in the summer of 1939, while an official delegate of congress to the International Congress in Norway.

WILLIAM RHODES DAVIS, international oil operator who, according to Verne Marshall, head of the recently organized "No Foreign War" committee, was bearer of a Nazi peace plan naming President Roosevelt as arbiter in 1939.

But Fish's warning on ship building has not been taken lightly. If a successful Axis would take advantage of such ship-building capacities, they could control the high seas within a short time, even if the American two-ocean navy already were sailing the briny deep.

500 Planes a Day?

Another plan which will not be cast aside lightly, was presented by pint-sized Walter Reuther, manager of the General Motors division of the C. I. O.'s United Automobile Workers. Presentation to President Roosevelt actually was by Philip Murray, C. I. O. chieftain; but the plan was Reuther's.

The proposal calls for activating 354,000 feet of existing automobile plants space in the Detroit area, which once belonged to such forgotten firms as Hupmobile and Graham-Paige. Reuther and Murray also maintained that there are thousands of skilled workers in the same area still waiting for jobs. Cited were lay-offs recently by Fisher Body, Chevrolet and Ternstedt.

Blue prints and tables submitted with the proposal were based on production of 150,000 planes a year, six months after it was put into effect. Only light craft and training planes would be made. The manufacture of heavy craft and bombers would be retained by the present aircraft industry.

The President handed the data to his Big Four. But even before that it had been examined privately by Undersecretary of War Patterson, who is charged with mobilization of industry. He was much impressed. It will be opposed by the aircraft industry.

There were indications too that the drive soon will be put in force to speed up defense by compelling plants manufacturing "non-essentials" to forego their schedules and "accept" war department orders.

THE ARMY:

More Men Called

During the latter half of January more thousands of young men will be called for a year's army training, under the selective service law. The first call was in December and in virtually every one of the nation's 6,500 draft boards the quota was filled by youths who volunteered. In most local areas, however, the January call will, for the first time, take men who do not volunteer.

Otherwise on the war front:

In Libya, fighting now on Italian territory, the British Egyptian army said it could take the important harbor of Bardia whenever it chose.

Manila reported that it had learned on good authority that 12 German raiders were being armed and supplied in Japanese harbors. A mysterious raider, which ran up the Japanese flag but which Australians said was German, fired on the tiny island of Nauru, a former German possession in the Pacific.

Changing Hands

FATEFUL YEAR: President Warns

The seventeenth month of the war opened against a sombre background. The year 1941 dawned with a general admission that before its close may come the decisive test, not only of the war, but also the American economic system.

America was given a grave report by President Roosevelt in a speech that took the joy out of New Year's celebrations. He said that the danger to the nation is the greatest since Jamestown and Plymouth Rock. He said if Great Britain was defeated the Axis powers would control Europe, Africa, Australasia and the high seas. He said that a victorious Axis would not hesitate to occupy South America and the United States would be living at the point of a gun. He said that already secret agents of these powers are operating in the Americas.

Before the President spoke, he had received uninvited advice from two sources. German and Italian dispatches said that if the President promised aid to Britain by permitting use of Irish ports by American merchantmen or giving Britain stranded German merchant ships in U. S. harbors it would be viewed as intervention in the war. From a bloc of U. S. senators, among them Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.), came urging that the President originate a movement for a "negotiated" peace.

He pledged that he would do everything in his power to keep the United States out of the war, declared there was not even the remotest thought of sending troops to Europe, called for defense production to the utmost, hinted it may be necessary to use machinery now engaged in manufacture of luxury goods to turn out armament, and forecast that the Axis powers would not win the war.

Reaction

Throughout the United States the speech was received with pledges of support on all sides, even from personal and political enemies of Mr. Roosevelt like former Gov. Alfred Smith, former Gov. Alf Landon, Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.); Sen. Austin (R., Maine).

But there was no enthusiasm among the totalitarian powers. Berlin was silent for 48 hours during which time Adolf Hitler went into seclusion and studied the document. Der Fuehrer then replied indirectly. He spoke to his army, not mentioning the name Roosevelt. But he promised his army a victory in 1941. He said God was on the side of Germany and "would not abandon those who were determined with courageous heart to help themselves."

Premier Mussolini was blunter. His mouthpiece, Virginia Gayda, said America already was in the war.

... in the news

Ousted—The Overseas Press Club in New York consists of newsmen who are or have been foreign correspondents for U. S. newspapers in the past. There are few active members abroad now, most are back home. The club dropped from its rolls George Sylvester Viereck saying it objected to his bringing "bundists and gestapo agents" to its meetings. Viereck, an American, is registered with the state department as the $500-a-month correspondent for a Munich newspaper.

Death—Daniel Frohman, 89, one of America's greatest theatrical producers, died in New York. Agnes Ayres, 42, star of the silent movies and leading lady to Rudolph Valentino, died in Hollywood.

Job—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., 27, was graduated by the University of Virginia last June. Now he has a job as a lawyer with the New York firm of Wright, Gordon, Zachry and Parlin. He and five others asked for jobs through the firm's employment department. All were hired.

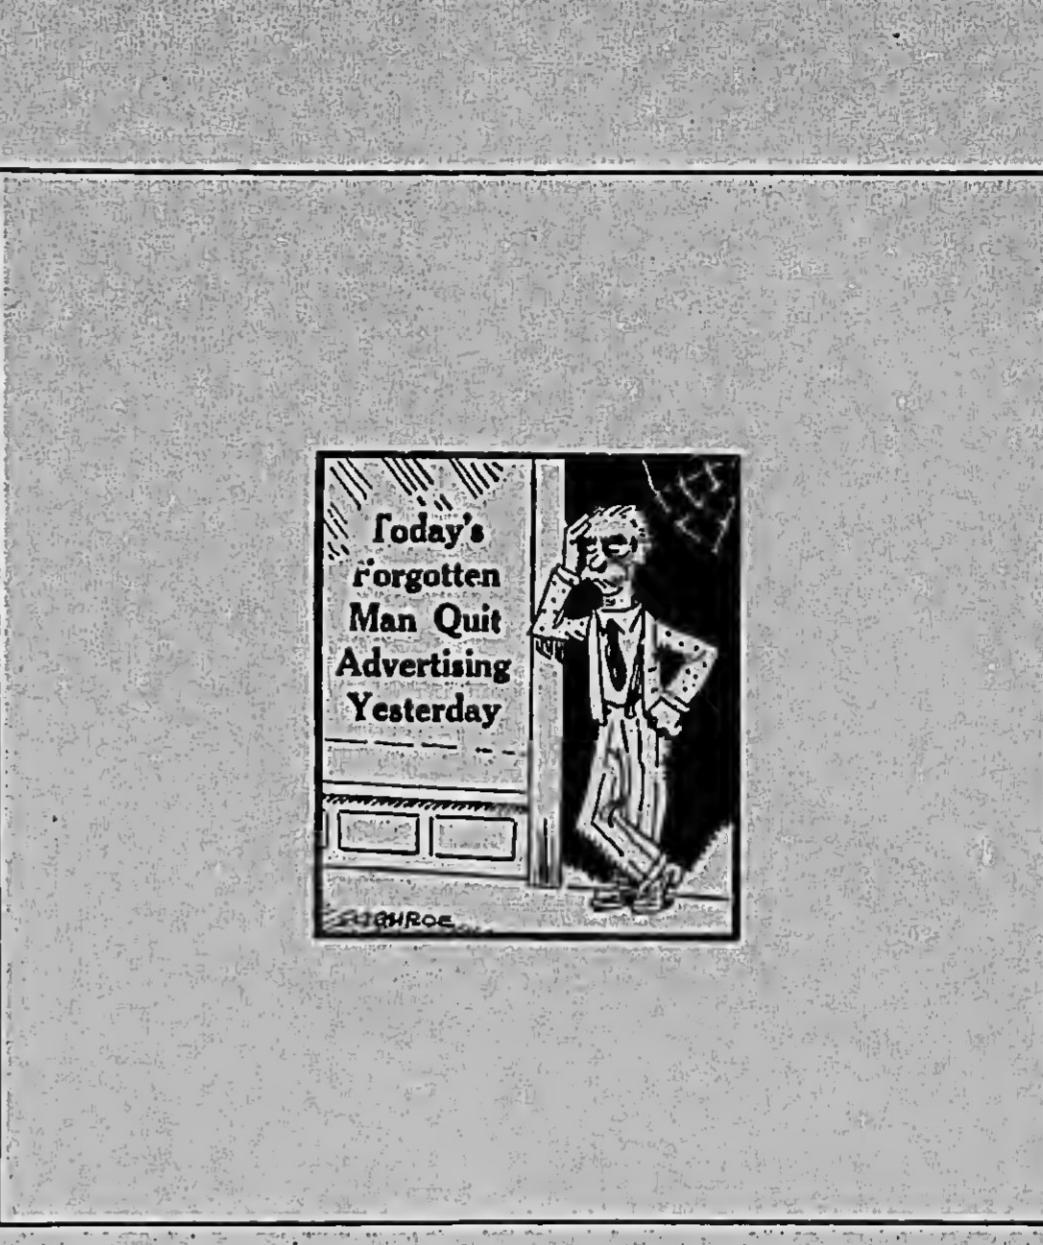

Sued—Gloria Jean, the 12-year-old film star, has been sued for $535,000. The action was brought against the child and her parents by a theatrical agent who said he "discovered" her and by terms of a contract is entitled to 10 per cent of her earnings.

Habit is just getting to be too much for us, and besides, we couldn't resist clipping this from a Waukegan newspaper, as possible evidence that there may be some progress even in these degenerate days:

This is the first year that drunken drivers did not hit Zion's Christmas tree. One year three cars crashed into the tree foundation. This season, however, the lower branches were clipped so that automobiles could pass under it safely. Red lights were burning constantly around the tree to warn motorists.

We're just all set to start out any old time for Friday Harbor, Washington, for we've just received a most beguiling folder (with pictures) about the San Juan Islands, where Mrs. George H. Pitman lives. Seems they have some right nice fishing in this group of isles, which lies between Vancouver and the mainland; . . . and some right nice scenery, too. According to the folder, "the 172 islands of the San Juan group constitute a sea-girt arcadia, encircled by the azure waters of Puget Sound in Northwestern Washington." Seems that San Juan Island, largest of the group which bears that name and the one on which Friday Harbor is located, was occupied jointly by the British and American troops from 1859 to 1872, and parts of both camps remain. . . . The boys appreciated a good locality when they found out. . . . Wish we could tell you all the rest of the interesting things we read about the place. That name, "Friday Harbor," always did intrigue us. . . . Anyway, thanks, Mrs. Pitman!

We see where—

Mrs. Erna Goebel, who resides on a farm one-half mile north of route 42A hung her purse containing $50 on the front bumper of one of the autos in the family garage. When she returned to the garage, both the auto and the purse were missing. Another member of the family had driven the auto to Lake Bluff. Upon return of the auto, the anxious Mrs. Goebel found that her purse was no longer hanging from the bumper.—Waukegan paper.

—And we thought that we were the only one who did things like that!

We also notice that—

After having served as city clerk of Waukegan for 10 years and as city treasurer for four, Donald S. Thompson, 71, of 820 Hickory St., who has voted there for the last 45 years, has discovered that he is not a citizen of the United States.

This was revealed when Thomson filed an application for citizenship with Circuit Clerk L. J. Wilmot, under the misnomer clause in the naturalization laws.

The world seems to be getting nuttier and nuttier. Now it's a cop who's shot in Waukegan for swiping gasoline. F'r gosh sakes! Course, we know lots of bigger and better crooks in case anyone wants to get out their weapons. . . .

And by the way, who was it pulled that fast sneak against the lights at the 41-173 crossing the other morning, . . . and then dug for Antioch like all-get-out? My, we're surprised at you!

Mrs. Harriet Davis and daughter, Betty, of Indian Point attended a performance of the Ballet Russe at the Auditorium in Chicago Sunday.

A pot luck supper and board meeting were held in the Antioch Methodist church Wednesday evening.

Adolph Kucera, who has been at Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan for the past week for observation and treatment, returned to his home at Petite lake this morning, and is reported somewhat better.
